

Dual Enrollment Between Oregon Community Colleges and Oregon University System Campuses

College to University Dual Enrollment agreements are student-focused arrangements that enable college students to be formally enrolled at both a community college and an Oregon University System (OUS) campus at the same time.

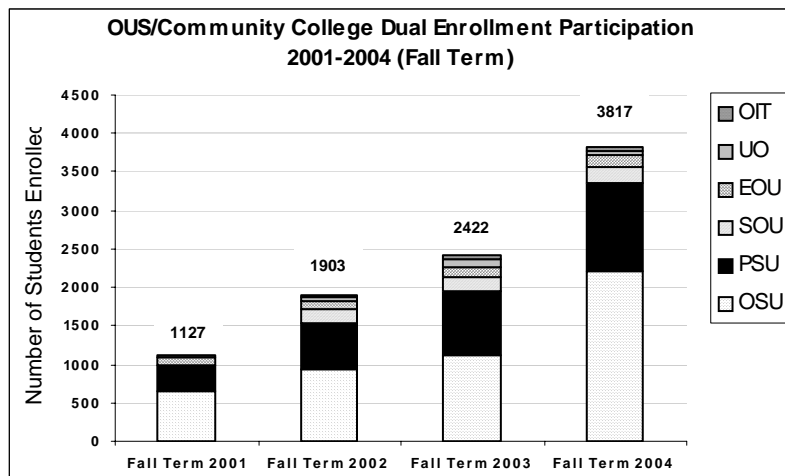

Linn Benton Community College and Oregon State University started the initial dual-enrollment agreement in fall 1998. Since that time twenty-five agreements have been established serving nearly 4,000 students in fall term 2004.

Common characteristics of post-secondary dual enrollment agreements

- Student-centered
- More efficient
- Tuition savings for students
- Single application for admissions
- Financial aid administered by one campus
- Single registration for courses
- Coordinated academic advising
- Access to campus services such as library and recreation center

Participation in the programs has grown dramatically as more agreements are put into place and more students participate in them. Five new dual-enrollment programs have been implemented in the last six months alone. Since fall 2001 the number of students admitted into a dual enrollment program has increased by over 250%.
